Over the years, Taormina has been a magnificent source of inspiration for artists from all over the world - celebrated as the idyllic spot par excellence, it represents the ideal place to escape from the chaos of the city life.

Romantically located 200m above the sea level, it has picturesquely settled on a coastal terrace, overlooking the vastness of the Ionian Sea. The mild temperature that rarely goes below +11 and the natural beauty of the hill where the city has risen up, are complemented by the view of the Etna Volcano in all its magnificence.

THE CITY

Aleksandar Todorovic/Shutterstock.com

The overwhelming feeling of being on such a high ground, the breathtaking panorama and the fusion of nature and art at its best have made Taormina an exclusive travel destination.

A former Greek settlement, the city was then conquered by Romans and Byzantines and the splendor of that golden Era has lasted throughout the years. Here in fact, the beauty of the nature has been enhanced by human hands and culminated in the Greek Amphitheater which dominates the scenes.

The vibrant center of the city is Piazza IX Aprile, beautifully adorned by the 17th century Sant Agostino and San Giuseppe´s churches; once you cross Porta di Mezzo (literally "middle door"), you will enter the ancient part of the city where the Clock Tower was erected over 300 years ago.

The quaint Corso Umberto I is the main road that runs through the whole city, which, with a myriad of shops and restaurants, will lead you from the city center to Porta Catania and the magnificent Badia Vecchia.

Taormina is not only a captivating historical site it's beautiful coastal line, its marine grottoes and faraglioni (rocks) have enchanted numerous generations and they are only a cable way ride away from the city center.

DO & SEE

The medieval town can probably be walked within one day and, despite its tiny area, this little gem located on the East coast of Sicily has a unique charm that has an enchanting force on travelers.

The quaint and historical center, the beautiful Corso Umberto I with its shops and traditional Sicilian restaurants, crystal water beaches and the numerous solutions for a day trip in the Sicilian surroundings are some of the ingredients that make the so called "pearl" of the Ionic Sea so unique and charming.

The Greek Anphitheater

Certainly the most iconic monument of the city, the Amphitheater was erected in Taormina in the 2nd century BC. Celebrated by Goethe for "the most beautiful view from a theater", it overlooks the Ionic sea and Mount Etna. The classic cavea was gently tailored by the side of the hill and it serves as stage for international events.

IX Aprile Square

Bustling landmark of Taormina, Piazza IX Aprile is the vibrant heart of the town. Guarded by two majestic churches, it offers an inspiring view of the Ionic Sea and, with its traditional cafes and restaurants, it is the ideal place to sip some local almond wine while listening to musicians fiddling with their strings.

Relax your gaze, breath naturally and stare towards the horizon - you will be certainly ### overwhelmed with feelings.

Chiesa di San Giuseppe

Constructed at the end of the XVII century, San Giuseppe church dominates Piazza IX Aprile with an elaborate Baroque facade. The interiors are finely decorated with floral motifs and angels, as well as with some exquisite frescoes picturing traditional Catholic images.

Villa Comunale

Recommended by both tourists and locals alike, the gardens of this villa represent the perfect escapade and a shaded solution after having spent days at the beach. Designed by the British and eccentric Lady Florence Trevelyan, they fairly resemble British gardens although they house a diverse and rare Sicilian flora as well as exotic plants. The architectural beauties are also considerable - take a look at the Beehive, this bizarre construction along with the other classical statues will make you wonder.

Corvaja Palace

Overlooking Badia square, this iconic palace was erected throughout the Arabs´ domination in the XI century. The peculiar architectural features show a mixture of styles which blend together to create this astonishing mansion; take a walk up the XIII century staircase and discover the art exhibition hosted in the building.

Duomo di Taormina

The also called "Fortress Cathedral", is a Medieval church built in the 13th century over the ruins of San Nicola´s church. The austere facade granted the title to the biggest medieval monument in Taormina which, with its Gothic-Norman style, is one of the must see in town.

Fountain Piazza Duomo

Located in Duomo Square, the Fountain of Piazza Duomo is further enhanced by the medieval beauty of Taormina´s Cathedral, which stands right in front of it, dominating the square. Constructed in a Gothic style, this stunning monument is guarded by the statue of the Minotaur, the half-man half-horse mythological emblem of the city.

Spisone Beach

A subtle paradise of blue crystal water, this public beach is bigger than Mazzarò Lido and certainly more relaxing. It is the locals most-loved spot as it doesn't normally bustle with tourists and the tiny rock islands emerging from the blue surface, make its view particularly suggestive.

CAFES

Gandolfo Cannatella/Shutterstock.com

Ask any Italian where to have the best breakfast in town and he will certainly direct you to a local "pasticceria"(pastry shop). Yes, because here in Italy, the traditional breakfast (la prima colazione) consists of a latte and whatever your sweet tooth may crave. The astute Sicilians, however, came up with an idea to combine an energizing breakfast with a refreshing solution to cope with the hot summers of the Mediterranean island - "granita" and "brioche col tuppo" is the ideal Sicilian breakfast. As much as the idea of having a slush for breakfast sound bizarre, our suggestion is to try it: the Sicilian granita is exceptionally tasty and made from fresh ingredients.
