Enjoy a holiday with sun and swimming, shopping and entertainment, art and culture. Kalmar offers the opportunities of a large city but also the proximity and charm of a smaller place.

Within walking and bicycling distance, you can enjoy beaches, parks, forests, meadows, cobblestone streets, shops, museums, cafés and galleries. And an honest-to-goodness castle with pinnacles and towers. Today Kalmar is a modern city, but wherever you go, you feel the pulse of history.

THE CITY

Wherever you go in Kalmar, you can feel the echoes of history. Many of the old buildings host charming shops, restaurants and pubs. For example, you can buy coffee at "Gerdas" in one of Sweden's oldest retail premises built in 1667. You can also visit Westholms glass studio at "Västerport" - Kalmar's old gateway through the city walls.

All year round, events and activities take place around the city. Listen to a free concert at the city square, become a knight at the Kalmar Castle, see all the participants in the IRONMAN competition or visit the art museum in the beautiful city park. In Kalmar, there's always something going on!

Here, you can always sense the nearness to the sea. Take a swim at "Kattrumpan" - a beach located right at the end of the main shopping street. Behind Kalmar Castle, you will find the newest and largest beach "Kalmarsundsbadet" with a 150 meter long bridge.

You can combine several interests in one holiday. Close to Kalmar, you'll also find the beautiful island Öland and the Kingdom of Crystal. Together, we offer experiences all year round!

Did You Know That...

...the creator of Father Christmas, Jenny

Nyström, was born in Kalmar in 1854.

...Erik XIV had a secret escape route via the royal privy at Kalmar Castle.

...potato dumplings and Kalmar flounder are two well-known dishes from here.

...Gustav III had a royal distillery at Kalmar Castle.

...there are about 64,500 bolts in the Öland Bridge.

...Kalmar's city arms are the Nordic region's oldest.

...in Kalmar there are two extremely rare handkerchief trees, that bloom in spring like fluttering white handkerchiefs.

...Kalmar has twice been awarded Europe's finest architectural prize, Europa Nostra.

...you see only about one-third of the Öland Bridge. The remaining two-thirds was erected under the surface of the water.

...the Old Water Tower has been converted to attractive flats, which are somewhat difficult to furnish with their curved walls.

..."Kalmar" is an old Swedish word that means stony ground or stone embankment.

DO & SEE

In Kalmar you stroll on venerable paths. With its architecture and city plan, its walls, cobblestone streets and stone buildings from the 17th century, the city has done an exceptional job of preserving the memory of Sweden's period as a great power. Experience Old Town, which lies right next to Kalmar Castle, Kalmar County Museum with its exhibition about the ship "Kronan" and Kalmar Art Museum with its much-discussed exhibitions.

Kalmar Castle

The history of this legendary castle stretches back over 800 years. Its present appearance dates from the 16th century, when the Vasa kings rebuilt it in the style of a Renaissance palace, with furnishings in the continental manner.

Kalmar Maritime Museum

During the last few hundred years a great number of the men of Kalmar have been employed in building ships at "Varvsholmen" (the "Ship Yard Island") for Swedish as well as foreign ship owners. It is their history, and at the same time the shipping history of Kalmar, which is exhibited at Kalmar Maritime Museum. Seamen of all categories and their families have generously contributed to the creation of this museum by donating objects of many kinds.
