Muenchen Tourismus, Foto Christian Kasper

In Munich exclusive shopping, fashionable streets and monumental buildings co-exist with Lederhosen, brass music and rustic beer halls. Visitors can start their day in a simple bar with knuckle of pork and sauerkraut, and end it in a gourmet temple with white linen tablecloths. Moreover, Germany's most cheerful residents live here.

THE CITY

In Munich, it's the mix that makes the message. Old meets new, past meets present and future, the modern blends harmoniously with the traditional, bits and bytes with beer, business and leisure. For the visitor, there is never any shortage of sights to see or activities to engage in.

The Bavarian Metropolis with its 1.5 million inhabitants lies virtually at the centre of Europe. Munich's origin goes back to an early settlement of monks from the Tegernsee Monastery which was called "ad Munichen" (the monks' home).

The situation leading to its later growth was treated by an act of violence of Henry the Lion, Duke of Bavaria from the House of Guelph. At that time the salt transports coming from Reichenhall and Hallein had to go over a bridge spanning the Isar River at Föhring north of Munich. The bridge passage was accompanied by a toll, and this traffic brought considerable revenue to the Bishop of Freising in whose territory Föhring was located. Henry the Lion had this bridge destroyed forcing the salt transports to use his new bridge a few miles upstream in ducal territory. On June 14, 1158, the new bridge, the market, the customs office and the mint at "Munichen" were approved by imperial decree thus in one fell swoop the monastic settlement assumed a completely different function. The rapidly prospering town was selected by the ruling family of the Wittelsbach in the middle of the 13th century as its Residence due to a territorial split and in 1294 it was granted a new municipal charter. During the reign of Emperor Ludwig the Bavarian - of the Wittelsbach family - the city extended its walls six fold and in 1504 it finally became the capital of the reunited Duchy of Bavaria. Under the 700 years of Wittelsbach reign as dukes, electors and kings Munich attained increasingly the reputation of being a European centre of culture.

Year after year, Munich takes gold in German city rankings. When asked where they would prefer to live, most Germans say Munich. The reason is simple: a magic combination of a vigorous economy and top-notch leisure time activities and outstanding cultural offerings.

DO & SEE

München Tourismus

Munich has come to be associated with the Oktoberfest, the Hofbräuhaus, the Olympic grounds and the Fasching carnival. However, Munich also has an international reputation as a metropolis of both, art and culture. Its music scene ranges from classical to jazz and pop and the many museums display impressive collections.

MUCA Museum of Urban and Contemporary Art

Street art as a form of art of the 21st century is rightly considered as a global celebrated phenomenon, nevertheless street art hasn't arrived enough in the art discourse. The newly build Museum of Urban and Contemporary Art (MUCA) wants to make a change by enrolling street art into art history and by building a bridge between the international art scene, artists and the public.

The idea of MUCA is to bring art and its people together to a place of self-reflection, with the main question of what a visionary museum stands for.

Bier- und Oktoberfest Museum

Munich is the capital of beer - with seven breweries, the world-famous Hofbräuhaus and the Oktoberfest. Interested in knowing more about the brew? Then the Beer and Oktoberfest Museum is for you: here you will learn all about the history of beer, from the great migration to the monasteries, the brewing and the "purity" law of 1516, and the quality of Munich beer. The Oktoberfest also has a long history, beginning as a national holiday to celebrate the wedding of Ludwig I. with Princess Theresa von Sachsen-Hildburghausen and becoming in time the largest folk festival in the world. The museum also shows the interior of a traditional middle-class Munich home.

DINING

München Tourismus, Picture: Christian Kasper

Perhaps most people associate Munich with beer and there certainly are a lot of breweries and beer halls in the city. But don't miss Munich's classic high-calorie everyday cooking! Haxe is knuckle of pork and it tastes good together with sauerkraut and "Knoedel" (dumplings). We also recommend apple strudel and custard or a Dampfnudel (a kind of cream bun with chocolate or vanilla custard) for dessert.

Glockenbach

In the middle of the district of the same name, we would like to spoil you on two floors with a tasteful ambience and delicious, culinary creations.

We are a team of four experienced gastronomic and wellness specialists who have made it their task to create a light-flooded and extraordinary location in the popular district. Retro flair, modern elements and pleasant light sources together with the open room design and the many glass windows create a pleasant, very special atmosphere.

The Glockenbach offers an excellent breakfast and lunch, as well as special coffee and tea specialties with homemade cakes. An extra take-away area and the stylish restaurant on the upper floor, open from 19h, complement our weekly changing seasonal menu, which also includes a selection of fine wines, cocktails and mixed drinks.

SHOPPING

No city break is complete without a good long stroll through the shops. Munich offers absolutely ideal conditions for a great big splurge: haute couture in the Maximilianstrasse, Theatinerstrasse, Residenzstrasse and Brienner Strasse, department and chain stores in the pedestrian precinct, trendy and flamboyant clothes between many galleries in such town districts as the Gärtnerplatz and Glockenbach area, Haidhausen or Schwabing, Bavarian local costumes, handicrafts and souvenirs in specialist shops, delicacies from all over the world at Dallmayr's or Käfer's, the leading delicatessens in Europe, or at the Victuals Market in the heart of the city. Another typical feature of Munich is the number of small shops that concentrate on a few articles, for example, umbrellas, felt, gloves, candles or wood carvings, and which are still to be found in the centre of town.

Munich's ultra-chic shopping area additionally covers Perusastrasse, Residenzstrasse, Brienner Strasse and Odeonsplatz. You will discover gems in the shop belonging to the Nymphenburg Porcelain factory (Odeonsplatz 1), which has been based in Munich for over 250 years. In the district of purveyors to the court, where not only the Bavarian king was a customer, you can go on a regal shopping expedition - from porcelain, jewellery and select delicacies to high-quality shoes and clothing.

The recently opened "Maximilianshöfe" - Maximilian's court yards - will also carry you off into the world of international design. You can take a break from shopping in the columned hall of the former "Marstall" - the royal stables, as a new restaurant has been established in the classified historical building.

Outside the old town centre, for example in Schwabing, Haidhausen, around the Gärtnerplatz and in the Glockenbach area, the shops - and the customers - are quite obviously more unconventional. The Gärtnerplatz and the Glockenbach district are also ideal shopping areas for gays and lesbians. Shop ateliers, boutiques and concept stores, with many cafés and bars in between that are open during the day, invite you to go shopping, to look and enjoy yourself.

Bargain-hunters are in their element at flea markets and designer outlets, or they amuse themselves in search of curiosities and crockery, junk and antiques at an old Munich institution, the street market-cum-funfair called the Auer Dult (in May, July/August and October).

Stachus Passagen: surprisingly stylish and central

In the heart of Munich, right at the Karlsplatz, is where you'll find the Stachus Passagen - Europe's largest underground shopping centre. A shopping Eldorado appealing to trend-conscious shoppers with its wide range of more than 50 fashion, beauty and lifestyle stores and catering for every culinary taste with a large selection of restaurants.

Address: Karlsplatz/Stachus, Munich

Phone: +49 89 51 61 96 64

Internet: www.stachuspassagen.de

The Pedestrian Area

Most shoppers make a beeline for the central pedestrian precinct in the old town centre (Kaufingerstrasse, Neuhauser Strasse, Marienplatz). Here you can explore one big department store after the other, stroll through branches of well-known chains for fashion and shoes and meanwhile discover souvenir shops.

Address: Neuhauserstraße 1, 80331 München

Public Transport: Tram, Subway (S-Bahn, U-Bahn), Bus

Opening hours: ca. 9:30 - 20:00 Uhr

Alter Hof / Platzl

Dallmayr's, also well known through the television commercials advertising its coffee, is situated immediately behind the New Town Hall, from where it tempts shoppers to buy its delicacies. It's worth discovering the adjacent areas "Alter Hof" and "Platzl" with shops for jewellery, clocks and watches, delicatessen, kitchen utensils, furniture and clothing, a vointheque, the Hofbräuhaus and the Infopoint of the Museums and Palaces in Bavaria, which also offers attractive and unusual souvenirs.

Address: Platzl 1

Public Transport: Tram, Subway (S-Bahn, U-Bahn)

Opening hours: ca. 9:30 - 20:00 Uhr

Viktualienmarkt / victuals market

The Victuals Market, only a few steps from the Marienplatz, displays its fruit, vegetables, herbs, bread, cheese, wine and many other tasty titbits from all over the world, extending an invitation to enjoy its wares with all the senses. Beer gardens, cafés and flowers in a blaze of colour do their best to beguile the visitor.

Next to the Viktuals Market there is the "Schrannenhalle". It was built under King Maximilian I and was originally a market hall where grains were sold. In 1932 it burned down but was rebuilt with the original wrought-iron frames and reopened in September 2005.

Address: Viktualienmarkt 1, 80331 München

Public Transport: Tram, Subway (S-Bahn, U-Bahn), Bus

Internet: www.muenchen.de

Sendlinger Straße / im Tal

The streets around the Victuals Market, a few corners further on along the Sendlinger Strasse and the street called the Tal in the direction of the River Isar, are full of a wide range of shops offering antiques, junk and jewellery, fashion, furniture and home accessories, leather goods, cigars and cigarettes, clocks and watches, fancy chocolates and much more besides. It's worth making a detour to visit the streets and lanes north of the Tal in the direction of the Hofbräuhaus. Souvenir hunters, music lovers and football fans feel very much at home here.

Address: Sendlinger Str. 1, 80331 München

Public Transport: Subway (S-Bahn, U-Bahn), Bus

Opening hours: ca. 9:30 - 20:00 Uhr

Theatinerstraße

Turning back across the Marienplatz, you come to the high-class shops in the Theatinerstrasse. In delightful passages, arcades and courtyards you will find tasteful boutiques. The latest destination for the lovers of select consumer worlds: the "Fünf Höfe", five courtyards between Theatinerstrasse and Maffeistrasse, which are also impressive for their prize-winning architecture. Besides fine shops, cafés and offices, here you will also come across the newly-designed premises of the Hypobank Cultural Foundation, an art gallery famous for its spectacular exhibitions.

Address: Theatinerstraße 1, 80333 München

Opening hours: ca. 9:30 - 20:00 Uhr

Maximilianstraße

Exclusive terrain in Munich is the Maximilianstrasse, where a number of top couturiers present their creations. Weary shoppers regain their strength in the street cafés while they watch Munich's kindred spirits strolling past with their colourful shopping bags.

Address: Maximilianstraße, 80331 Munich
Public Transport: Tram, Subway (S-Bahn, U-Bahn)
Opening hours: ca. 9:30 - 20:00 Uhr

Hofstatt

Hofstatt was opened in 2013 and is a shopping passage next to the pedestrian area (near Marienplatz). It consists of various shops and cafes

ESSENTIAL INFORMATION

Airport

Munich Airport (MUC) is about 40 kilometres north of the city. The quickest way to get there is by commuter train (S8 or S1), which take respectively 41 and 35 minutes from Hauptbahnhof. S1 starts running at 03.45 and there is one train every twenty minutes until 23.25. S8 starts its first journey at 03.18 and runs every twenty minutes until 00.38.

The Airport-City bus runs every twenty minutes from Hauptbahnhof (Busbahnhof, Arnulfstr.) and takes just over 40 minutes. Please notice, as the bus route goes via the Autobahn, there is heavy traffic every afternoon and it may take up to 2 hours to get to and from the airport. The first bus from the city centre leaves at 05.10 and the last one is at 19.50. Departures commence from MUC at 06.20 (start Terminal 2) and operates until 21.40. A taxi costs about € 60.

M-WLAN: Free WiFi at Munich open spaces

M-WLAN is for residents and tourists - or simply for anyone with a mobile internet device. It's for free and it's fairly easy to use at many well-visited places - for example Marienplatz, Odeonsplatz, Stachus or Münchner Freiheit. Just accept the terms of service (TOS) and go. You don't even have to register. You can simple surf the internet for one hour before you're automatically logged off. If you want to browse a couple of more pages - no problem. Just log right back into M-WLAN.

Rental bicycles

For 8 cents / minute you can discover Munich by bicycle. 1200 bicycles are available at central locations. To use them, you have to download the cost-free app "MVG more" and register once.

Public Transport

There is a large network of underground, commuter trains and buses centered around Marienplatz and Karlsplatz/Stachus. It functions excellently in the inner city and is considerably easier than trying to get around by car. A day pass for the entire MVV network (Münchner Verkehrs- und Tarifverbund) costs € 13,00 and for the central city zone € 6,70. The "Munich City Tour Card" for € 12,90 gives you reductions in some hotels, shops and museums and is valid as a ticket for unlimited travel in the inner city.
